

Top sportsmen of the Coast

● Outstanding Gold Coast Australian Rules player, HAROLD PEACOCK, has been playing senior football for 19 years, and according to local enthusiasts, "he's as good today at 39 years as most players half his age."

Harold started his long career in 1946 when he completed his Air Force service and played with Williamstown in the Melbourne Association fixtures for four years. He then coached in the country for four years before coming to live on the Gold Coast.

In addition to captaining the premiership-winning Southport Rules team, Harold also captained the top basketball side, Flyers, and also plays a very good game of golf and tennis.

He believes his remarkable physical fitness is due to continuous participation in competitive sport.
